Link2Cell Bluetooth Cellular Convergence Solution w/ 5 Handsets

The Panasonic KX-TGE275S Link2Cell Bluetooth Phone System comes with five silver handsets, a main base, and four extra handset chargers. This model allows you to link up to two cell phones and integrate them into the system via Bluetooth. All of your contacts stored into your cell phone can be shared with this phone system allowing you access to their phone numbers right from the handset. These handsets can also vocally alert you when you have received a call or a text message. For those times when you're running late and cannot locate your cell phone, there is a cellular locate mode conveniently on both handsets and base that will guide you to your lost device. This model also features extra-large buttons and amplified volume, ideal for those who have a harder time seeing or hearing. Power back up and advanced TAD functions tie it all together making this system one of the most reliable and functional systems available in the market today.
